BILLS THAT WILL PERISH

This is the period of congressional sessions when zealots of all shapes and complexions begin to view with alarm the probability that their pet bills are going to be trampled under foot in the adjournment rush. Every year the same thing happens, and each time it is supposed to be sad.

It is this year a little less sad than usual. Possibly some good bills are going to be put on the shelf for lack of time and inclination to do anything about them in 1936. It's more than likely, though, that they never will be missed by anyone.

When congress finally slowed down to adjournment after the momentous 100 days in 1933, there was a general conviction that the country needed a chance to digest the legislative dumping which had been rammed down its throat. It still is waiting.

Part of its gastric encumbrance has been removed forcibly by the supreme court's stomach pump. The rest is still there. In 1934 and in 1935, the situation was aggravated by additions to the half digested lump. In 1936, congress did slow down, but not enough to make possible the rest which the country needs.

There is no reason to doubt that representatives and senators could remain in Washington the year 'round and grind out legislation by the basketful. Bills seem to pop out of their minds like campaign cards out of a politician's pocket.

But if there is anything the country doesn't need more than it does need anything else, it is more legislation. Conceivably, it might miss a good idea, but even a really good proposal probably could be held over for another session without hindering the onward march of civilization during the remaining months of 1936.

WHEN EXPERTS DISAGREE

When experts disagree, mere men may be pardoned for getting confused.

Presumably, the president of the United States, for instance, is an expert when he starts to give authoritative opinions. Clearly, however, Mr. Roosevelt's expertness has been challenged successfully in numerous cases.

The tax bill which he proposed enthusiastically fell to pieces in a hurry under the scrutiny of congressmen, most of whom do not pretend to know much about taxes. When a few acknowledged experts began to point out the errors in the proposal, congressmen deserted the administration in droves.

More recently, in another field, Alfred P. Sloan, a successful financier and automobile industrialist, has been disagreeing sharply with the bulk of expert opinions offered by politicians on the subject of what is needed to stimulate employment. Mr. Sloan, who probably knows more about his business and business as a whole than politicians ever could know, thinks most of their ideas are cracked and silly.

Politicians shouldn't be blamed too harshly. They do their best. Necessity forces them to talk about a lot of things about which they have only a smattering of information. That being the case, it is natural to give preference to opinions of men who have first-hand knowledge of their subjects. Mr. Sloan is more believable than Mr. Roosevelt, for instance, on matters pertaining to industry.

It so happens that most of the real experts have been letting politicians do the talking the last few years. In many cases, the private leaders have been too busy sawing wood to talk. With proper reservations, Mr. Sloan is ended for proving in a small way there are minds at work somewhere in the United States besides the city of Washington.

Relief costs in New York City have risen 50 per cent since the WPA set in. Of course, it costs more to starve in New York than elsewhere.—Boston Globe.

THE STARS SAY

For Friday, May 29

The planetary configurations for this day point to certain stubborn obstacles to overcome, and some very wisely deliberated judgments and decisions before the presaged benefits may be permitted to operate. Affairs at a distance call for very judicious management, and finances likewise demand prudence and sagacity. Extravagance and plunging would prove unprofitable and not justified and mental explosions might complicate promising affairs. Be calm and self-contained.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of many opportunities for benefit and progress, but these should not be complicated by snap judgments, rash acts and extravagances. Be wise with funds and let caution rule the judgment, and there may be success in removing impediments and composing difficulties.

A child born on this day may have a keen and clever intellect, but may be prone to ill-considered judgments and false moves, especially in trends toward extravagance and financial recklessness.

Notable nativity: Patrick Henry, patriot.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, May 28—Brook Pemberton in taking charge of Gov. Alf Landon's political fortunes in the East is responding to a college campus friendship when he and Landon attended Kansas University. They were fellow lodgers in the same frat house—boon buddies outside.

In those days Kansas and Missouri met on a Kansas City football field for their annual scrap and Landon and Pemberton were among the chief rooters as well as foremost in the rush the night of the game to storm the Old Century theater where Bickel and Watson and such held forth.

Pemberton came on to New York as a newspaper reporter and became one of the most astute and successful producers of his day while Landon, of course, remained to become Governor of the state. They never lost touch and exchanged visits at intervals.

There are those who say that should Landon be nominated and elected, Pemberton would likely hold a high place in the official family. Yet those who know the producer's love for the theater do not believe the presidency itself could lure him from the Rialto.

One notices much of the open continental love making in Central Park and along Fifth avenue and Broadway these days. Strolling lovers wander with arms around one another's waists. And smack dab in front of the Hotel Astor the other dusk a starry eyed pair stopped in sudden ecstasy to exchange a lingering kiss. The customary loiterers on the hotel steps rewarded them with a quick jet of applause. They made unabashed little curtsies in response and moved on. Still in a clinch.

I am a pushover for music boxes. Nothing brings back with such lucidity the mellow vista of gone years. Far west on 42d street the other day I unearthed one that tinkled these treasures: "Cordelia Malone," "Navajo," "Hiawatha," "The Flower Song," "In Dear Old Georgia," "Mississippi Mammie," "Wait Till the Sun Shines Nellie," and that grand old march, "Creole Bells." Incidentally, Victor Herbert was a prowl for old music boxes. So was Harry Reichenbach.

There were two effective tear jerking tunes in the days of lousy melodrama—"The Flower Song" and "Hearts and Flowers" and it was difficult to distinguish them. Each was used when it became necessary to bear down heavily upon the emotions. Then there was the struggle on the cliff number. Also that "nervous" music that Junie McCreedy used to call "chills and fever stuff." Incidentally, they could use "Hearts and Flowers" effectively with the Little Lord Fauntleroy film.

Someone once told me of being an over-night guest at the home of the Des Moines newspaper publisher, Cowles. As the household began to stir out of its slumber in the morning there was off somewhere, delightfully faint, a music box tinkling of the ancient "Wedding of the Winds" tune. The soft purring tones sitting into the various sleeping chambers soothed everyone into a smiling, peaceful awakening. Perhaps more music at breakfast and a mile less in the night clubs would do no particular harm.

I recall the gentle thrumming of guitars through the hotel windows on those lazy sun-blazed mornings that somehow seem to unfold so gloriously only in Santa Fe, New Mexico. How much more enjoyable than the rattle of milk cans or the arguments of tradesmen in the courts?

Thingumbobs: Bob Wildhack, the artist, has been signed up for 13 more weeks of that snoring stuff by a film outfit . . . Julius Caesar lives on Coliseum avenue in Indianapolis . . . Willie and Eugene Howard are considered the biggest all-time draw among the brother acts . . . King Edward's idea of a grand midnight snack is a slice of warm gingerbread and a cool glass of milk . . . The poet Keats was a Cockney . . . Clara Bell Walsh has had the same hair dresser for 30 years.

One of the magazines tells of a he-man writer in the northwest who splits rails until 11 each morning and works at his typewriter until 8 p. m. And here I am all tucked out after splitting a couple of infinitives.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

CHILD HEALTH

THIS SPRING marks the eighth anniversary of the passage of a joint resolution by congress for an annual campaign intended to promote maternal and child health on a nationwide scale. The original resolution, authorizing the president of the United States to open the annual drive by proclaiming a Child Health Day, was passed May 18, 1928.

I am glad to say that many important advances have been made since the first Child Health Day. War has been waged, as never before, against the so-called "childhood diseases". To this end, facilities have been placed at the disposal of large and small communities alike. These make certain that the young mother may obtain the necessary training and instruction in the rearing of her baby.

There are provided such protective measures as vaccination against smallpox, inoculations against diphtheria and the correction of congenital defects. Advice in infant feeding, the development of health habits and training in hygienic measures, are a few of the many advantages given.

Fays Carelessness In spite of these intensive campaigns and the efforts of the health authorities to promote the health and security of children, there are many problems still unsolved. Yet, I am sure to say, in many instances trouble is due to mere carelessness or the failure to learn what is best.

Too many mothers still believe that the diseases of childhood are "natural" events in the life of the children. They fail to realize the dangers of these so-called "trivial" diseases. In consequence, they fail to do all they could to protect their little ones against exposure and perhaps fail to quarantine a sick child to avoid spreading the disease to others.

Perhaps the longest stride in the direction of good health which has been taken within the past eight years, has been the recognition that periodic visits to the doctor are of greatest importance. It must be borne in mind that adult and child alike are subject to certain constitutional disorders. When defects are discovered early and adequate measures are taken to remove them, permanent and serious disability can be avoided.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking acids and wastes out of the blood. A healthy person should pass about 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, waste stays in the body and may become poisonous. It may start nagging backaches, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't let it lay you up.

Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

More Than Million Telephones In Ohio, With 2,222 In Salem

Ohio has passed the million mark in telephones, according to figures just received by Carl F. Willman, commercial manager for The Ohio Bell Telephone company.

Of the total, the Ohio Bell has about 600,000, the Cincinnati and Suburban Bell Telephone company has nearly 140,000, and the 295 independent companies in the state have nearly 275,000.

Salem now has 2,222 telephones, and the number here is steadily increasing. Since the first of the year, there has been a net gain of 94 instruments here. The entire gain for 1935 was 129. Each of these telephones can be connected with any one of more than 17,000,000 telephones in this country and any one of 15,000,000 telephones in foreign lands. Thus, Salem has access to 93 per cent of the world's 33,540,000 telephones.

Salem has more telephones than the entire South American republic of Bolivia. With a population of 3,000,000, including 150,000 in its largest city, La Paz, Bolivia has a little better than 2,200 telephones.

More than 61 per cent of the world's telephones are operated by privately-owned systems. In the United States, all telephones are operated by private companies. Salem, with its 2,222 telephones and its population of 12,000, has 18.5 telephones per 100 inhabitants.

Special Services Planned At Leetonia Catholic Church

New York Priests to Take Part In Celebration Sunday

The people of St. Patrick's church, Leetonia, are anticipating a happy occasion next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 when a rather unusual religious service is to be held. The devotion will begin in the church and then a procession will be formed and school children, adults, servers vested in cassock and surplice and finally the priests in ecclesiastical attire will march over to a newly erected shrine.

A feature of the celebration will be singing of the hymn sung at the famous shrine at Lourdes, France, intermittently, during the procession. A unique feature will be a living rosary formed by the school children at the shrine.

A new statue, "Our Lady of Grace," made of stone, six feet in height, and especially designed for use in an outdoor shrine, will be solemnly blessed on the occasion. At the conclusion of the rosary, one of the girls will place a wreath of flowers upon the head of the statue, symbolizing the crowning of Mary, as Queen of the May.

To keep the participants together in the prayers and hymns, a broadcasting system will be used. The entire surroundings of St. Patrick's church afford an unusual opportunity for outdoor services of this kind.

The Very Reverend W. A. Marchant, O. P., pastor of St. Vincent Ferrer's church, of New York, and Rev. Eugene Kavanagh, O. P., also of New York, will arrive Saturday morning to take charge of these very colorful ceremonies. Father Marchant is to preside at the services and Father Kavanagh is to preach. A somewhat similar service was held last October on the parish grounds and those present were deeply impressed by the very religious character of the devotions.

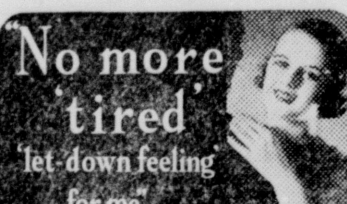

Immediately following the services a cafeteria luncheon will be observed by the ladies of the parish for the benefit of those attending. A cordial invitation is extended by the pastor, Rev. Fr. T. T. Marchant, and parishioners to all who wish to attend.

Goes To Atlanta

NEW ORLEANS, May 28.—Fred Hunter, wanted in Ohio in connection with the Garrettsville mail robbery, was under sentence today of two years in Atlanta federal prison. He pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to harbor Alvin Karpis, former public enemy No. 1, with whom he was arrested here May 1.

Rev. Fr. Eugene Kavanagh

No more tired
let down feeling for me

"I feel and look better
—there is color in my cheeks
—my appetite is keen
—my weight is back to normal."

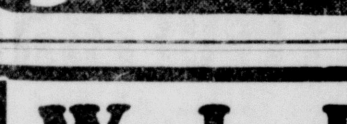

"This I am noting in my Diary and I give full credit to S.S.S. for causing me to 'feel like myself again.'"

So we suggest—

Don't try to get well in a day...this is asking too much of Nature. Remember, she has certain natural processes that just cannot be hurried.

Therefore, if you are pale, tired, lack a keen appetite, have lost weight and feel rundown...a frequent sign that your blood-cells are weak, with a tendency towards anemia—then do try in the simple, easy way so many millions approved—by starting a course of S.S.S. Blood Tonic.

STUMP ACTIVITY HOLDS INTEREST
Republican Candidates Making Final Bids For Nomination
(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 28.—Final pre-convention stump activity among Republican candidates for the presidential nomination today held the attention of political observers.
Many believed tonight's address by Senator Borah of Idaho will give the further indications of the course he will pursue during and after the Cleveland convention. The speech, to be broadcast (CBS) at 7:30 P. M. (E. S. T.) will be the veteran senator's last before the delegates assemble in Cleveland.
Knox Speaks
Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and presidential candidate, spoke last night in his home city, saying "we are in the midst of a fundamental crisis that will determine the preservation or loss of American institutions."
He declared that the Republicans would need the support of 3,000,000 "patriotic Democrats" to "defeat the subversive Washington faction."
The party, he said, must champion "a true liberalism."

STUMP ACTIVITY HOLDS INTEREST
Republican Candidates Making Final Bids For Nomination
(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 28.—Final pre-convention stump activity among Republican candidates for the presidential nomination today held the attention of political observers.
Many believed tonight's address by Senator Borah of Idaho will give the further indications of the course he will pursue during and after the Cleveland convention. The speech, to be broadcast (CBS) at 7:30 P. M. (E. S. T.) will be the veteran senator's last before the delegates assemble in Cleveland.
Knox Speaks
Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and presidential candidate, spoke last night in his home city, saying "we are in the midst of a fundamental crisis that will determine the preservation or loss of American institutions."
He declared that the Republicans would need the support of 3,000,000 "patriotic Democrats" to "defeat the subversive Washington faction."
The party, he said, must champion "a true liberalism."
New Dealers, with their convention choice all settled in advance, continued to hold their fire for the time being, with prospects that the battle will begin to get hot soon after the Republican nomination is made.

Issue Statement
The Republican national committee, in an appeal for support from citizens, issued a statement saying "the gulf between the fair promises and the reckless deeds of Mr. Roosevelt is wider than that of any other administration in the history of the republic."

Father Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit radio priest, and frequent critic of New Deal policies, was quoted by the New York Times as saying that he would not support Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas if he became the Republican nominee. He was quoted as declaring that if President Roosevelt and Governor Landon were nominated, he would wait until 1940 before trying to influence the election of a president.

Theater Attractions

Motion picture fans who still remember Ronald Colman in "Beau Geste" and who succumbed to Claudette Colbert's charms in "The Guided Lily" and "It Happened One Night" will enjoy the picture which brings these two stars together with a supporting cast of many other well-known film personages.

"Under Two Flags," directed by Daryl F. Zanuck ("Mutiny on the Bounty") plays at the State theater here tonight, Friday and Saturday.

Miss Colbert plays the role of "Cigarette" in this adaptation of Ouida's immortal story of the French Foreign Legion. A lovely story, she toys with the affections of Victor McLaglen, Legionnaire major, until she meets Colman, a member of the ranks. Then she impulsively loses her heart to him.

The drama gains in power and intensity with the appearance of Rosalind Russell, fragile English beauty. Before he is sent out to the desert to help stem an Arab revolt, Colman has declared his love for her.

Hemmed in by hostile forces, McLaglen vainly attempts to destroy Colman, whom he believes stands between himself and Miss Colbert. But Colman saves his force by a daring ruse, and a magnificent charge of the Legion, led by Miss Colbert, results in the defeat of the Arab forces.

Claudette Colbert who plays with Ronald Colman, Rosalind Russell and Victor McLaglen in "Under Two Flags," showing at the State tonight, Friday and Saturday.

The magnificent supporting cast of forty character stars includes such prominent players as Gregory Ratoff, Nigel Bruce, C. Henry Goddon and J. Edward Bromberg. Frank Lloyd directed this unusual spectacle with its thousands of extras and its sweeping and magnificent natural backgrounds.

Otto D. Steiger, who served with the French Foreign Legion for five years, acted as technical assistant on the production.

DON'T TREATCONSTIPATIONLIGHTLY

Poor Health May Be the Price of Neglect

Too many people dismiss common constipation* as a matter of no great consequence. Yet this condition causes discomfort, and may lead to headaches and loss of appetite. When it is allowed to continue, it may lower your resistance, and so increase your chances of catching a serious illness.

Common constipation often develops when you eat meals that lack sufficient "bulk." Your system fails to get needed internal exercise. Fortunately, today, you have a generous source of effective "bulk" in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Within the body, the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass, which gently cleanses the system. This natural laxative food also supplies vitamin B and contains iron.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, etc. Two tablespoonsful daily are usually sufficient. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN often. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company as an effective laxative food for constipation.* Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Ohio Liquor Board Debates Beauty As Aid To Beer Sales

COLUMBUS, May 28. — Ohio's state liquor board considered with mixed reactions today the insistence of brewers that beauty, as portrayed in feminine advertisements, boosts the beer business.

In response to an informal ban by the board on pictures of scantily-clad women in outdoor advertising, Jesse M. Joseph, Cincinnati advertising agency operator, declared that the modern trend was towards artistic nudity, and that such a prohibition would "be all injustice to women who want to drink beer."

Charles Koerber, Toledo brewer, said, "women drink almost as much as men. Besides, women put color and life into advertising."

"If we could not use women in advertising, it would tend to make beer a product for men only," commented Joseph.

In an informal debate with Board Chairman George Eppley, Joseph added that he felt the drapes on the statute of Liberty "make her look terrible."

Eppley and Board Member Wellington T. Leonard agreed that the board should have an opportunity to pass on beer and liquor advertising.

Mrs. Edith McClure Patterson, only woman member of the board, insisted that all pictures of women and children be forbidden in beer advertisements.

The fourth member, John Thompson, suggested prohibition merely of the lewd and lascivious in advertising.

A final decision was held in abeyance.

Eight Quaker Thinclads To Represent Salem In State Meet

Toledo Scott Is Favored To Take Ohio Scholastic Track, Field Championship

Record Entry of 908 Athletes To Compete In State High School Baseball, Tennis, Golf, Track Events; District Champions Are Listed

With all of the 1935 team titleholders eligible except two and considered strong threats to win current championships, the annual state high school track, golf, baseball and tennis tournaments at Columbus Friday and Saturday will draw a record field of 908 scholastic athletes. Representing Salem High school in the track and field meet will be eight Quaker athletes who qualified in the southern half, northeastern Ohio district competition here two weeks ago. They are entered in the Class A division.

No Chance For Title
Although not conceding a chance to capture the team title, the Quakers probably make a good showing in several events. Paul Rothen figures to finish well up among the leaders in the mile run while Archie Bricker in the half mile and Max Lutsch in the high jump are possible point-getters.

The Quakers' medley relay team of Howard Tibbs, Larry Hart, Tom Tilly and Eddie Kamasky, which won its event in the district meet, will no doubt encounter opposition a bit too stiff in the state classic. The Quakers' other representative in the meet is Bruce Whitcomb, who has but a slim chance to cop a place in the pole vault since his best height this season is only 10 feet, 6 inches.

Toledo Scott, defending Class A track winner, again came through Northwestern district qualifying rounds by outclassing Toledo DeVillbiss, the runnerup, 97 1/2 to 38. San-dusky, second to Scott last year, gained numerous qualifiers as Mansfield defeated 82 1/2 to 64 1/2 in the other Northwestern district meet. Scott is an overwhelming favorite to repeat its 1935 victory.

Other district track champions include: Class A—Columbus Central and Newark, tied for central district; Cleveland East Tech, northeastern district; Warren, northeastern district; Cleveland Collinwood, northwestern district; Marietta, southwestern district; Cincinnati Withrow and Dayton Oakwood, southwestern district.

Class B Winners
Class B district team winners include: (Central) Upper Arlington, (Eastern) Belpre, (Northeastern) Rocky River and Columbus, (Northwestern) New London and Oak Harbor, (Southeastern) Wheelersburg, (Southwestern) Lockland and Springfield New Moorfield. Only three 1935 finalists again qualified in the baseball tournaments as Ashland became a somewhat weak choice to annex the Class A crown. They are: Toledo Libbey in Class A, and Brookville and Monclova in Class B. Brookville is defending champion and favored to repeat while Monclova lost to the former in the quarter-finals last year, 9 to 3.

Other baseball qualifiers include: Class A—Columbus Aquinas, the first time in eight years the Dragons have succeeded in placing a team in the meet; Bridgeport, Washington C. H., Norwood, and Dayton Fairmont. Class B—Etna, Powhatan Point, Navarre, Bloomington and Hamilton Fairfield.

Nine Return
Nine 1935 finalists will tee off again for the present state links trophy with Toledo Libbey, the defending champion, again present. Dayton Fairview, 1935 runnerup, likewise qualified for the meet as did Columbus Central, St. Clairsville, Tiltonville, Elyria, Portsmouth, Canton McKinley and Urbana. In addition, Worthington, Cleveland Shaker Heights, Toledo Scott, Akron Buchtel and St. Xavier and Purcell of Cincinnati qualified.

In the tennis matches, Zink of Steubenville, defending champion, will seek the 1926 singles title as will Edgar Koehl of Ashland and Mike of Bowling Green. Also among the 1935 qualifiers again present is Talbert of Cincinnati Hughes and James of Gallipolis. All new doubles teams will face off in the coming matches with the Fleener-Bond entry from Akron East and the Stone-With combination of Canton McKinley reigning favorites.

ST. PAUL BREAKS LOSING STREAK

Register First Win In 10 Games Over Milwaukee, 13-5, Yesterday

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, May 28.—Gabby Street's St. Paul Saints, who followed a sensational 16-game winning streak with a string of ten consecutive defeats, hoped today they were headed for another run of victories.

The Saints cracked their losing streak yesterday, crashing out 17 hits to score their first victory of the season over Milwaukee, 13 to 5. Gordon Slade led the assault on Garland Braxton and Ulrich with four singles.

Led by Goodwin Rosen, who hammered out a home run, double and two singles in five times at bat, Louisville won its third straight over Toledo, 16 to 1. Big Jim Peterson held the Mud Hens to five hits. Rosen boosted his batting mark for the season to .346.

Don Guttridge's long fly sent Hal Anderson home with a run in the ninth to give Columbus a 4 to 3 decision over Indianapolis. The Red Birds thumped Bob Lozan for their 14 hits, but Trout, who replaced the Indian shortstop in the ninth, was charged with the defeat.

Kansas City increased its first place margin over Milwaukee to one and one-half games by defeating Minneapolis, 7 to 4, in a night game. Whit Wyatt and Wilcy Moore held the Millers to eight hits, while the Blues picked on Belve White and Rosy Ryan for ten.

SEBRING DOWNS MERCHANTS 10-7

Lisbon Hanna Oils, Newell Win Other County League Contests

Defeat again stalked the fair of the Salem Merchants as Sebring Grocers pounded them into submission, 10-7, in a Columbiana County Baseball league contest at Centennial park yesterday.

Supporting the five-hit pitching of Malesy and McCullough, Sebring took 14 blows from Pitchers William and John Pukalski of the Merchants to score three runs in the fourth inning, one in the fifth, five in the sixth and one in the seventh.

Chappell Triples
The Merchants scored twice in the fourth frame, once in the sixth and four times in the seventh. Bob Chappell's triple in the latter inning brought in three runs. The Merchants' five hits were split between Chappell, Zatkoff, Eddie Pukalski, Halverstad and Mellinger.

Campbell and Reedy led the Grocers at bat, the former connecting for a full trip around the bases during the contest. The defeat was the third the Merchants have suffered in six games to date.

In other County league contests yesterday the Lisbon Hanna Oils defeated East Palestine, 8-3, and Newell won in a romp over Leontonia, 22-1. East Liverpool, Kensington and Salineville did not play.

Little Trouble
With John Hrovatic on the mound, the Hanna Oils had little trouble in downing Palestine. The Lisbon nine scored in every inning but the third, sixth and eighth. Palestine secured its runs in the first and seventh innings.

Hrovatic granted eight hits, struck out 11 batters and walked one. J. Patton and R. Patton alternated in the box for East Palestine and allowed nine hits. Joe Hrovatic, brother of the Lisbon twirler, and Price hit home runs during the game.

Memorial day contests involving County league teams will see the Salem Merchants tangle with the Canton Stark Motors in a doubleheader at Dunn Eden park and the Lisbon Hanna Oils meeting Lake Placencia in a doublebill at the lake diamond.

All players on the Salem nine are requested to report at the Memorial building at 12:30 p. m. Saturday to go to Dunn Eden.

FREDDIE MILLER LOSES IN FIGHT

Featherweight Defeated By Vaughn In Lightweight Division

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, May 28.—Freddie Miller, former N. B. A. featherweight boxing champion, massaged a few bruises and welts today and considered that perhaps, the "going" in the lightweight field might be a little rough for one lacking in poundage.

Miller, at 127, lost his first fight in Tony Canzone's division last night to young Jimmy Vaughn, 135 1/2 pound Cleveland slugger. Starting like a whirlwind, the former titleholder went down for the nine-count in the second frame, and was staggered in the third. He edged out favor in the fourth, but appeared unable to cope with the Clevelanders infighting tactics until the seventh when he cut loose with a rain of body tattoos and left uppercuts.

Miller weighed in just one pound above the feather limit.

JUNIORS LOSE TO PALESTINE

Salem Nine Suffers Second Defeat; Play Lisbon Saturday

The Salem Junior Legion nine went down to defeat for the second time in three games yesterday at East Palestine when it lost out to the East Palestine Juniors, 7-2. Limited to four hits by Pitcher Rudloff of East Palestine, the Salem Juniors scored their only runs in the fifth inning. East Palestine was held to five hits by Davis and Hyvatin, Salem twirlers, but six errors contributed by the local Juniors aided in gaining the victory.

Jalestine tallied twice in the third frame, three times in the fourth and twice in the eighth.

Oliver Olexa and Henry Smith collected all of Salem's hits, each getting two. None of the East Palestine's batters was able to hammer out more than one hit.

The Salem Juniors will play their fourth Columbiana County engagement at Centennial park at 3 p. m. Saturday when they entertain Lisbon.

PLAY ODD GAMES IN MID-ATLANTIC

Night Contests Are Filled With Thrills, Tragedy And Absurdity

COLUMBUS, May 28.—The old "Mad-Atlantic" lived up to its jingly-applied title today with the early-morning conclusion of a series of baseball games filled with thrills, tragedy and absurdity.

Most of the contests got under way shortly after sundown last night and ended at midnight or thereabouts, but at Portsmouth it was not even thereabouts, Huntington finally winning a 16-inning marathon, 6 to 2, this morning.

At Dayton, Pitcher Dugan of Charleston was doing very well indeed until the seventh inning, when he wound up, caught his spikes in the rubber, and tumbled off the hill with a fractured left leg. To rub things in, the umpire called a ball on him and the man who thus got on base scored what proved to be the winning run of an affair.

Johnstown, invading Canton, knocked Pitcher Hutt out in the first inning but lost the game 6 to 4 when Haley, Terrier relief hurler, started bearing down. Parker of Canton contributed to the Jaws' discomfiture with a first inning homer with two men on, while Gillespie got a solo circuit drive in the fourth.

The Jaws, in defeat, remained a half-game ahead of Zanesville to retain the league lead. (Charleston, on top of the heap two days ago, is tied for third today.)

Akron and Zanesville put on more or less an orderly baseball contest at the latter's park. Davey, Akron pitcher, lost the game 6 to 4 in the sixth when he walked in a run and then let Buckoski clean the bags with a screaming double. Gallefer of Akron and Grimes of Zanesville hit homers, too.

Marietta College Crew Victorious

MARIETTA, May 28.—The Marietta college varsity crew covered the mile and five-sixteenths course here yesterday in 6:45 to defeat a Rollins college crew from Winter Park, Fla., by four lengths. Rollins was tied at 6:53. The Marietta junior varsity was third. Sally Sterns, coxed coxswain for the southerners, drew the praise of visiting coaches for her handling of the crew.

CARNERA AMONG SECOND RATERS

Loses to Leroy Haynes When Leg Injury Forces Him To Quit

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, May 28.—Another of the bad breaks which have studied the fistie fortunes put old Primo Carnera, the lumbering Italian heavyweight, back among the fistie second raters today.

He lost his ten round return battle with Leroy Haynes, the New Philadelphia sensation, at Ebbets field last night when an attack of paralysis in his left leg forced him to leave the ring.

Haynes was ahead on points at the time and probably would have been returned a winner, but "Da Preem," by holding the colored boy on even terms throughout most of the fight, partly atoned for the three round knockout Haynes scored in Philadelphia two months ago.

Disappointed and discouraged, Carnera would not discuss his ring future as his handlers worked on his leg in the dressing room after the fight.

M'SPADEN WINS OVER SARAZEN

Takes First In Massachusetts Open Golf Tournament

(By Associated Press)
PITCHBURG, Mass., May 28.—Harold (Jug) McSpaden, one of the recent notable additions to Massachusetts professional golf ranks, was doubly satisfied today over the results of his first eastern test.

While winning the 30th Massachusetts open tournament yesterday in a keen competition that cost Gene Sarazen the last of his many golfing crowns, McSpaden enriched himself to the extent of $400.

The Winchester pro, formerly of Kansas City, topped a field of 90 with a 72-hole total of 292, a stroke ahead of the runner-up, Wilfred Crossley, young Norfolk amateur.

Sarazen tied with Bob Crowley of Norfolk, for fourth place with 297.

Capital U. Wins

COLUMBUS, May 28.—Capital university's baseball team bunched six hits and scored as many runs in the sixth inning of yesterday's game with Otterbein and then added another run in the eighth to win 7 to 2.

$40,000! Who Wouldn't Smile!

Mrs. Valerie Huff Vose, 21-year-old former Albertina Rasch dancer, of New York City (above), has been awarded $40,000 damages and annulment of her marriage to C. Redfield Vose, wealthy broker. Vose married her after a Mexican divorce, which she contended was not legal in New York.

THE ENGLISH worry, perhaps, but at least they go to work. To any English automobile factory that will agree to build airplanes, England will supply money for new buildings. The British mean to have the most powerful fighting fleet in the air, as they have had it on the water's surface for some time past.

Only one kind of genius and one kind of courage exist among men. The British genius that produced a Nelson, or a Blake, who never went to sea until past fifty to fight on the surface will produce other men to win in the air.

Fighting with the new weapons may make it necessary for nations to restrict their holdings. The English who knew how to expand will also know how to contract.

Sooner or later some nation or combination of nations will make itself strong enough to say to the rest of the world, STOP FIGHTING, and enforce it, England and America might do that; they could do it.

CONGRESSMAN ZIONCHECK, like a well-known character in the Bible, spends a good deal of time "going to and fro in the earth and walking up and down in it," and has become well known in a short time. Mr. Zioncheck, who has recently been in Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands, not in Washington, excuses his absence from the halls of Congress thus:

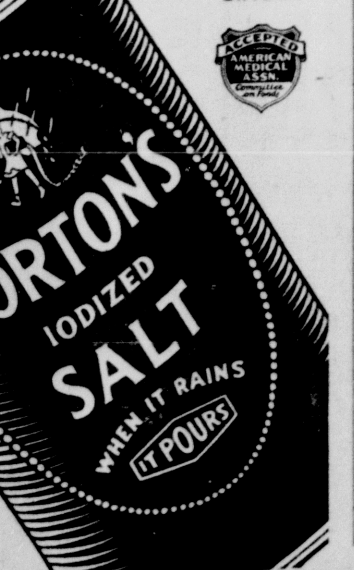

CHANCELLOR HITLER of Germany joins in the "more and better babies" cry. The German ideal is no longer the beautiful golden-haired Marlene Dietrich, spinning her wheel. The demand women, who, "above everything else, can become the mothers of several children," and are willing to do so, according to a representative of Chancellor Hitler.

WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS, Englishman, is afraid the British empire may not survive, on account of "air power." Britain is disturbed by the thought that her whole imperial empire of communication, stretching 90 miles from the Straits of Gibraltar to the Gulf of Aden, is under Mussolini's bombing planes. Except that her empire is the sea, England should not worry more than other countries. With peace ships, losing all importance, except in the opinions of some Americans, anybody's bombers can break up any line of communication, temporarily.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

EACH SPRING the beautiful new edition of the "House of the Years," arranged by a famous metropolitan firm of furniture manufacturers and decorators, attracts delightful attention. This year's edition does not fall short of its predecessors, but is, to our way of thinking, handsomer and more interesting than ever.

This year the exhibit, instead of one pretentious house, consists of a series of apartments, including a charming budget apartment that is as easy on the eye as it is kind to the exchequer. So there are apartments for the budget couple as well as for the nest-egg pair. The furniture for both apartments is made in the work shops of the firm, so that it is, as furniture should be, an investment made to last.

Budget Apartment
Let's stroll into the budget apartment and see how it shapes up to modern requirements. Well, despite its maple accents, it is modern all right. The wall coverings are of plaid gingham in brown, green, red and white, while the floor is entirely covered with a beige, broadloom carpet. The white cotton homespun curtains are hung from green cornice boxes. The easy chair is covered in green and white icy chintz in a striking pattern. The fireplace wall is covered in pine paper, and by the fireplace is an attractive barrel chair in white homespun.

Let's continue our tour of the various living rooms by peering into the eighteenth century type living room, which is also furnished along budget lines. This most attractive room has white walls, while the carpet is of spruce green broadloom. In front of the classic white mantel is a white sheepskin rug. On either side of the fireplace are easy chairs upholstered in green, blue and white striped chintz. There are also built-in bookcases.

Many Accessories
The curtains are of glazed chintz in a Chippendale design in eggplant, beige and white. Accessories include drum-table, flat-top desk, coffee tables, extension dining table, dumb-waiter table, nest of

"THERE'S MURDER IN THE AIR"

by ROY CHANSLOR

CHAPTER XXXII

Jim slammed the phone down and looked at Gordon. Despair and hope were in the man's eyes, but his face was completely blank. Gabriel laughed. Bending low, he hurried to the side of the helpless detective, quickly unlocked the cuffs, removed the gag.

"Get up, Flaherty," he said softly. "An' give 'em the old signal."

Flaherty lay where he was, staring at Gabriel pleadingly. With his automatic Gabriel motioned the detective to rise. Gordon gave an exclamation of horror and started toward the man with the gun. Grimly Gabriel waved him back.

"Get up, Flaherty," he repeated.

In the stuffy room across the street the men waited. They saw Flaherty suddenly lurch up at the window. He raised his hands despairingly, gave a hoarse shout. Then there was one shot. Flaherty toppled forward out of the window. His body struck the electric sign, rolled, crashed into the street.

Across the open shutters of Gabriel's apartment steel shutters clashed.

The shutters rang with the hail of police machine-gun bullets. In a corner Gordon, manacled with the handcuffs taken from Flaherty, crouched, dazed by the rush of events, still shocked at the fate of the detective, his mind numb. The gunfire increased to a fantastic crescendo.

Above this devil's tattoo Gabriel was shouting staccato orders. He was like a man possessed. Gordon, as if slowly coming out from under an anesthetic, saw hard-faced men crowding into the room. Firearms appeared, sawed-off shotguns, sub-machine-guns, automatics.

Men sprang to prepared slots in the armored shutters, began to return the police fire. Others were running down the hallway to protect the rear.

Outside the Palm Gardens, giant searchlights flooded the night. The against the sky. Men and women, outline of the building was etched; minor employees hovered, terrified in the foyer, just inside the door.

The police ceased their fire. Shouts were flung to the besieged gangsters to let the people out. But if they heard, they paid no attention. The rain of bullets continued from both front and rear. Those in the foyer shrank back as far as they could. The police resumed concentrating on the closed shutters. But their bullets glanced off, screamed as they ricocheted, into air.

In the street, directly beneath the still-blinking electric sign, sharply visible in the reflected glare of the searchlights, sprawled an inert figure, the body of Detective Flaherty. Behind each police gun a face was set stonily.

"You're in charge, Mac," said Kilrane quietly. "Run the truck through the rear gate. Bang her back up against the porch. Then make a dash for it. Got to smack down that rear door. Don't blow her unless you have to. Remember, there's two women in there."

Red Mac nodded.

"Red to it," said Kilrane huskily. "Take 'em alive if you can. But if you can't—remember Flaherty! God bless you—and give 'em hell!"

"Okay, Chief," said the Sergeant grimly.

He barked orders. Men climbed into the truck. Red Mac vaulted in beside them. Suddenly Nat sprang from beside Tyler and Kilrane, clawed his way past two surprised detectives, jumped into the truck beside the Sergeant. Hands started to force him out. He flung an appeal to Kilrane. The Commissioner hesitated, then nodded. The door closed. Through the bullet-proof glass Nat saw the small group recede as the car gathered momentum. Tyler flung up one hand in a salute.

As the armored car plunged into the rear yard bullets rained against its steel sides, then down upon its top. The car swerved swiftly, stopped, then backed until it struck the porch with a crash. The doors opened. The police, Nat with them, rushed across the narrow open porch.

Two of them fell, clutching at their bodies. A third stumbled, and Nat pulled him to his feet with a mighty heave. Then they were under the wall. Heavy sledges struck the barred door, once, twice, three times. It gave, and they tumbled into the kitchen.

Red Mac looked about him quickly, his eyes going to a door on the right. "From Flaherty's story, that would be the door," he said. Again the sledges went to work. Strong arms crashed them against the door. It held stubbornly, but they kept after it, until after an agonizing delay it gave.

They were then inside the narrow room, facing the steel door which led to the stairs. The Sergeant motioned two men to the door. They fell to work with their sledges. But they bounced off ineffectively.

Abruptly Red Mac called a halt. "Got to blow it down," he said crisply. "Stand by with a drill, Jensen."

The man he had called Jensen produced a heavy drill, held it firm. The two other men alternated with hasty blows with their sledges. Slowly the drill bit into the steel, terribly slowly. The Sergeant began to prepare the charge of nitroglycerin. The precious seconds raced past.

Upstairs, a man ran into the apartment from the hallway, and reported to Gabriel: "The bulls got through the rear in an armored car! They're downstairs now, hammerin' at the steel door!"

Gabriel wheeled, clenching his fist.

"Stand by at the top of the stairs!" he cried.

He seized Gordon roughly by the arm, flung him into the hallway, prodded him ahead of him with his automatic. Gordon half stumbled down the hall. At a tug from Gabriel, he stopped in front of a door. Men with guns were running past them, toward the rear. He could hear the ring of hammers against the heavy door.

Gabriel opened the door in front of them, pushed him inside, stepped back quickly, slammed and locked the door. Helene, starting up from her couch, heard the crash of gunfire, the wall of sirens for the first time. Then it was blotted out, and she was looking into the gray face of her father.

"Dad!" she cried, and ran to him, clutching for him. She felt the manacles on his wrist, and recoiled. "Helene!" he groaned. He raised his arms, put the cuffed hands about her, held her close.

Gabriel ran to the door beyond, unlocked it, curtly motioned David Gordon into the hallway. "We got company," he said significantly.

"The police!" David cried, his face lighting with hope.

Gabriel laughed and prodded him in the ribs with his automatic. "And papa," he said chuckling.

David groaned. At a low command he stopped before the next door. Gabriel opened it, and Carlotta sprang up.

"Come out and join the party," said Gabriel. She saw David then, and turned, staring wildly at Gabriel.

He jerked her by the arm, pulled her into the hallway. She began to struggle. "No, no!" she moaned. "No, no. You can't—you can't!"

"Shut up!" Gabriel barked. "I ain't got all night."

He pushed them ahead of him, to the door leading to Helene's room. This he unlocked. He motioned them inside. David entered. As if dazed Carlotta followed.

"It's a family reunion," said Gabriel, grinning. He closed and locked the door. Carlotta suddenly flung herself against it, sobbing. He hurled her from it. She shrank back under his hard glare.

"Carlotta!" said Gordon gently. She stared at him, then back at Gabriel, wildly. He was standing with legs wide apart, caressing the automatic in his hand lovingly. The grin was gone from his face, and his eyes were narrowed to mere slits. Carlotta clenched her hands until the knuckles stood out.

"Well," said Gabriel softly, "so here we are at last! Just us—and a million coppers."

"Gaudio, I swear I kept faith with you!" said Gordon. "I didn't tell the police!"

"So what?" said Gabriel, shrugging. "We're here, and they're here; and this is the old pay-off."

A block away, behind the restaurant, Commissioner Kilrane stood beside an armored truck, the sort of truck used to transport money. He faced a line of grim-faced men, the men of Flaherty's precinct. Two of them carried sub-machine-guns, two sawed-off shotguns, two giant sledge-hammers, the others service-automatics.

The tall red-haired sergeant stood stiffly at attention.

"You're in charge, Mac," said Kilrane quietly. "Run the truck through the rear gate. Bang her back up against the porch. Then make a dash for it. Got to smack down that rear door. Don't blow her unless you have to. Remember, there's two women in there."

Red Mac nodded.

"Red to it," said Kilrane huskily. "Take 'em alive if you can. But if you can't—remember Flaherty! God bless you—and give 'em hell!"

"Okay, Chief," said the Sergeant grimly.

Gabriel wheeled, clenching his fist.

back and forth.

Finally it stopped on a line with Gordon's breast. Gaudio, making the most of his final scene, dramatizing it, smiled. He spoke slowly, almost in a drawl: "A long time ago, Moridon, I told you what would happen if you squealed to the police. You did squeal. So I'm going to keep my word."

He paused and smiled again, showing his even white teeth. Gordon drew himself up, stood waiting. "No, no," he said. "I'm not making it so easy for you. I'm saving you, Moridon, for the last."
